BRITISH INTERPLANETARY SOCIETY
UK SPACE INVESTMENT CAMPAIGN

About the Campaign

The British Interplanetary Society is calling on the UK Government to double civil space investment by 2030. Currently, the UK ranks 10th globally in space spending, investing just 0.05% of GDP compared to 0.11% in France and 0.10% in Germany.

Doubling investment would create 30,000+ high-skilled UK jobs, boost UK tech exports by £5 billion annually, and secure Britain's position in the new space economy. Space technology touches every aspect of modern life - from GPS and climate monitoring to communications.

Why This Matters Now:

"The UK invests just £0.05 per person daily in space - less than half that of France or Germany."

Double UK Space Investment by 2030

Join the Campaign and Secure Britain's Future in Space Exploration

Why Invest?

The UK is the sixth largest economy, but only the tenth in space investment. Doubling UK civil space investment by 2030 delivers transformative benefits:

Scientific Inspiration

Increase UK space exploration, scientific activity, and public inspiration.

Economic Growth

Every £1 invested returns £7 to the UK economy through innovation.

High-Skilled Jobs

Create 30,000+ new UK jobs in aerospace and technology sectors.

Global Leadership

Position Britain at the forefront of the new space economy.

Climate Solutions

Space technology is vital for monitoring and combating climate change.

UK Space Possibilities

Britain's skilled space workforce could achieve much greater success.
Boosting the UK's investment would lead to:

- World-class leadership in satellite construction
- Achieving economically beneficial science research
- Attracting new global investment
- STEM Inspiration — Space programmes inspiring the next generation of British engineers
